Local Beauty Pros Prepare for Sex and the City Movie Release BeautyInDC.com gives Locals the Edge on Discounted Beauty Treatments

May 8, 2008.....Washington, DC..... With the Sex and the City movie opening this month, women are once again wondering how they can capture some of the glamour of Carrie, Samantha, Charlotte or Miranda. If the original TV series left viewers with any message, it definitely was that life is all about looking great!

Beauty In DC (www.beautyindc.com) comes to the rescue with beauty deals for Washington area woman who want to look gorgeous on a budget. With rising gas and food prices dominating the news, this beauty, health & fitness website offers real bargains— something you don't often find these days. Visitors to the site can take advantage of up to 50% off popular services including Botox, teeth whitening, laser hair removal and even plastic surgery. It's a one-stop resource for Washington area residents looking for information and referrals on beauty services that won't break the bank.

BeautyInDC.com is also a source for area Sex and the City baby boomers trying to delay the aging process with non-invasive treatments. Busy professionals may not have time to research the latest procedures and products on the market and now they don't have to! BeautyInDC.com's expert interviews and product features along with the business directory and specials gives them all they need to turn back the years!

As part of the Sex and the City celebration, one lucky area resident will get a $2000 beauty makeover from BeautyInDC.com this June. Visitors to the website are encouraged to write a short essay on what services are on their beauty "wishlist" and have friends and family vote for them. The contestant with the most votes on June 14th will win their preferred services from among the participating businesses.

Note to Editors/Producers: BeautyInDC.com's founders Marilyn Thompson and Katherine Wood are available for interviews on beauty products and procedures that will make you look and feel like your favorite character from Sex & The City.

Launched in December of 2006 by Marilyn Thompson and her business partner Katherine Wood, BeautyInDC.com is an online resource providing the latest health and beauty options to busy Washingtonians who want the benefits but don't have the time to do the research. Their website provides articles and local expert tips on hair, makeup, diet and anti-aging procedure, along with regional directories.
